Why Make a Will?

Making a will is the only way to ensure that your wishes are carried out after your death. Without a valid will, your property and assets will pass under the Law of intestacy. In any event it is likely to cost more and take longer than if a will had been made. Making a will lets your loved ones know that you cared enough to sort things out in advance.

Single will from £190.00 incl. VAT. Mirror wills from £250.00 incl. VAT

January has been and gone, we are now into February, I'm not sure how many of you send a card (or two) or give flowers on Valentine's Day but do you know anything about this Saint? Well Saint Valentine was believed to have lived in the 3rd century AD when Emperor Claudius II governed the Roman Empire. Christianity was still relatively new and was incompatible with Roman Law. Claudius II was himself a pagan and he created strict legislation against Christianity including laws against marriage vows. (Claudius II thought unmarried men made better soldiers). During Claudius II's reign Christians were persecuted and Valentine ministered to them. Over the years the story of Valentine was enhanced, and it was said that he defied the law and married many soldiers in secret Christian ceremonies, which is how it is thought he gained the reputation as the saint of lovers. What few people realise is that he is also the saint of epilepsy and beekeepers.

The story goes that he was arrested and imprisoned because he conducted these clandestine marriages. Whilst in prison he continued his ministry, caring for the other prisoners and he is said to have healed the jailer's blind daughter. His last act before he was executed around the year 269AD was to send a note to the jailer's daughter signed "from your Valentine". He was buried in Via Flaminia in Rome.

Geoffrey Chaucer wrote in 1382 in his poem the Parliament of Fowls that Valentine's day was when birds chose their mates. The earliest association with February 14 as an annual celebration of love appears in the Charter of Love thought to be issued by Charles VI of France in 1440. The Roman Catholic church removed Valentine's name from the General Roman Calendar in 1969, but he is still recognised as a saint and celebrated on February 14th.

The feast day then evolved into a day for expressing love and affection where people give cards and gifts to their loves. 1 Corinthians 13 tells us "Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonour others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. Love never fails."

It is estimated that approximately 6 million people get engaged each year on Valentine's day making it the most popular day for marriage proposals. The number of weddings that occur on Valentine's day is difficult to state however in Las Vegas over 1000 people get married this day compared to the normal 300. So we can estimate that weddings increase by 20-30% worldwide on Valentine's day.

Some people have the view that it has become too commercialised over the years, Valentine cards and gifts started appearing in the shops on Boxing day! Whether you love it or hate it Valentine's day holds special meaning for many.

Marriage is viewed as a sacred covenant between a man and a woman, it is a lifelong commitment to love, cherish and honour each other. Ephesians 5 verse 33 tells us "each one of you also must love his wife as he loves himself, and the wife must respect her husband." Over 42 million weddings occur worldwide every year with 243,000 happening in the UK. Approximately 83% of marriages occur in a registry office. Whether people marry in a church or in a registry office, the ceremony still involves the making of vows to each other promising to be together in front of witnesses. Ephesians tells us that "Marriage should be honoured by all,"

I married my fiancé, David, in a quiet ceremony at the end of last month with just us and witnesses, making our vows to each other and I know that God was also there blessing our marriage. Corinthians 13 verse 13 states "And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love."

I would like to wish that you all experience love this month and remember that God loves you because "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life." John 3 verse 16

FAVERSHAM SHOPPER BUS

The Council received an update on the Shopper Bus which started in April 2024, aided by a grant from Kent County Council to cover the vehicle lease. Passenger numbers are increasing and Faversham Town Council will be developing a funding plan for beyond 2027 when the existing vehicle lease ends. As part of their 3-year commitment to support the Shopper Bus, Councillors agreed to make another contribution of £500.

DEFIBRILLATOR TRAINING

The Council will hold a defibrillator and CPR training session in the Village Hall on Saturday 14 March, please check the website and village Facebook page for further details will follow. Please note - you do not need training to use the defibrillator as instructions are given when used.

HIGHWAYS

The new “Unsuitable for HGV” road signs for the Old Lenham Road were installed before Christmas. The road sweep of the Old Lenham Road continues to be chased and the matter has been referred to Ward Councillor Terry Thompson. There are flooding issues on the Ringlestone Road as the soakaway needs to be replaced but no date has been given for this yet. A request for drain clearance has been submitted. The white lines on the Faversham Road have been reported for refresh.

Bereavement

We are sad to announce the death of John Davies who served as Headmaster of Eastling School for 25 years and was Chairman of Newnham Parish Council for many years. He was a well-liked and respected figure in the community, remembered for his dedication to education and public service. He will be missed by former pupils, colleagues, and residents alike. Funeral details including livestreaming to follow. No flowers, but donations to Sightsavers charity gratefully received.*

4th Feb - 18th Feb - 4th March

WHAT HAVE WE BEEN READING?

WHICH BOOK? – DAUGHTERS OF CHIVALRY by Kelcey Wilson-Lee (2019)

WHAT'S IT ABOUT? – a non-fiction history book about 'the forgotten children of Edward I'. It's about the lives of five spirited Plantagenet women (Eleanora, Joanna, Margaret, Mary and Elizabeth) who were all highly educated, well-travelled, managed huge households, were involved in diplomacy and able to defy their royal father. Not the usual image of medieval noblewomen. The author reconstructed the princesses lives from account books and contemporary documents, which sounds dry and dull, but the writing is anything but and romps along so that it's difficult to put down.

WAS IT ON THE MOBILE LIBRARY? – Yes.

Edward I and his queen Eleanor of Castille had sixteen children. Edward II who succeeded his father Edward I was the fourth son. His three elder brothers and seven other siblings died before they were 12 years of age.

Anna Chaplaincy

Anna Chaplains are named after the biblical figure Anna, who dedicated her life to worship and prayer and was in the temple when Jesus was presented soon after his birth.

The main purposes of an Anna Chaplain is offering spiritual support to older people who are living in care homes, their own home or sheltered housing complexes, and their relatives and staff who look after them.

If you know someone who is elderly or unable to attend church, someone who requires prayer, or a listening ear, or would like to receive communion, please contact Caroline McIntyre ramshawcaroline@gmail.com or 07799 538809.

KEEP KENT SAFE LATEST ALERTS

Looking for a new job? Don't get your identity stolen in the process.

Personal information is extremely valuable to criminals. They use your details to impersonate you and apply for products and services such as bank accounts, loans, and credit cards. They may also target you asking for upfront fees. Providing too much personal information (e.g. driving license number, passport number, full address) in your CV could leave you vulnerable to scams.

Spot the signs: Unrealistic salary, job offer without interview, poor written advert, being asked for money or personal details. Always do your research on a company and make sure they are who they say they are.

For advice and to report, contact Citizens Advice consumer helpline 080822331133

Romance scams have been targeting residents in the lead up to Valentine's Day.

More than £99.4 million was lost to romance fraud in 2024 across the UK? Romance fraud remains a high-risk fraud, impacting those targeted financially, emotionally, and psychologically.

- Verify photos: Use a reverse image search to ensure the photos are real.
- Be suspicious: If they start asking for money, especially if you have not met in person. Talk to others: Speak to your friends or family - do not keep them a secret.

A message from Pam Cowan

As many of you on Social Media will already know I was taken ill mid-December, in pain and unable to walk. Following Christmas and New Year in the William Harvey Hospital in Ashford I am now in the neurological ward at the Canterbury & East Kent Hospital.

After having just about every scan/test you can think of, neurological consultants have identified the cause as Guillain Barre Syndrome which is causing my own immune system to work against me. This is being treated by infusions of human immunoglobulin.

I am told the success rate for this is high - I've also been told that regaining my strength and mobility is likely to take months. I am really encouraged by this as I was getting to the point of thinking we wouldn't get to the bottom of what was wrong.

I just want to thank you for all your support and positive messages - it all means so much to me. Hopefully I'll get to see you all soon.

Film Club – National Theatre Live

Filmed performances of recent productions at the National Theatre.

February 27th, Doddington Village Hall, 7.30pm. £5 entry.

The Audience

by Peter Morgan, directed by Stephen Daldry

Helen Mirren plays Queen Elizabeth II in the Olivier and Tony Award®-winning hit production.

For 60 years, Queen Elizabeth II met with each of her 12 prime ministers in a private weekly meeting. This meeting is known as The Audience. From Winston Churchill to Margaret Thatcher and David Cameron, the Queen advised her prime ministers on matters both public and personal. Through these private audiences, we see glimpses of the woman behind the crown and witness the moments that shaped a monarch.

Please bring your own drinks and nibbles.
Ice creams will be available during the interval.

Nature Notes

Dave in The Chequers mentioned the other day that the local Robin is so tame that it actually came into the pub, through an open door, hoping to be fed. We have a very strong relationship with Robins in Britain, more so than in mainland Europe, where they are considered to be shy, woodland birds (this may be because small birds are still hunted regularly on the continent, and so are more inclined to see humans as a threat). So I thought it would be interesting to have a few Robin facts.

- The Robin belongs to the family of birds known as the Old World Flycatchers (Muscicapidae), which also includes birds such as Wheatear, Stonechat, and Nightingale. Previously, these birds were believed to belong in the Thrush family, but are now known to be related to birds like the Spotted Flycatcher.
- A Robin which reaches breeding age has a typical lifespan of 2 years, but fewer than half will survive their first year. However, the oldest known wild Robin got to nearly 8½ years old!
- Both male and female Robins sing and hold territories. This includes defending their winter feeding territories, each held by a single male or female bird. Robins are famously aggressive and have been known to fight to the death.
- The UK Robin population increases in winter, due to migration of birds from the continent. This includes some birds from Scandinavia and the Low Countries, and a few from Central and Eastern Europe. At the same time, some British birds head south to France, Portugal and Spain.
- In the Nineteenth Century, Robins were more commonly known as Redbreasts. Robin is actually a nickname (a diminutive of Robert), so they were Robin Redbreasts, just as Wrens were Jenny Wrens, and the 'Mag' in Magpie comes from Maggie or Margeret.
- The name 'Robin' for a red-breasted bird has been carried around the world. Which is why the 'Robin' on Mary Poppins' finger in the Disney film looks so unfamiliar – it's a model of the American robin, a species of red-breasted thrush.

Notes from WDN History Group

A Dutch medieval silver coin from Doddington.

While trying to trace the course of the Roman road in the field near the Retreat, a silver coin was excavated at a depth of about 45 cm. After careful cleaning, we thought it could be a medieval "long-cross" penny. This style of coin was first minted in the reign of Henry II (1154) and were issued by all the Plantagenet kings until the reign of the ill-fated Richard III (1485). They are characterised by a cross on the reverse side of the coin, the arms of which extend to the margin.

Unfortunately, the corrosion of the obverse of this coin makes it very difficult to discern the details of both the king's head and the marginal inscription which might have allowed it to be dated. We therefore sent photos of the coin to Andy Ward, Kent Archaeological Society Curator in Maidstone, with a request for help. The coin expert at the Portable Antiquities Scheme identified it as a Dutch "sterling" of Floris V, ruler of Holland (1254-1296). It differs from English long-cross pennies in being thinner and somewhat smaller in diameter.

The amount of verdigris (copper carbonate), particularly on the obverse side with the king's head, suggests that either it could be a counterfeit in which the proportion of silver was deliberately reduced or that it was in contact with a copper object in the soil.

How did a 13th century Dutch coin end up in a Kent downland village? Apparently, these coins were used as legal tender in England but were worth only half their face value (one penny). It provides clear evidence of trade with nearby Holland in the second half of the 13th century.

Whatever the size of your garden, whatever your style of gardening, join Wild About Newnham and help make the village a haven for wildlife.

Share ideas, suggestions and practical measures – together we can start to reverse the decline in biodiversity, at least in our patch.

Even if you don't live in Newnham, you are still welcome – we love all wildlife!

Here is a quiz to try. How many of these are you already doing, or can you commit to introducing?

One point for each wildlife-friendly idea ...

- Put out clean water for birds and mammals to drink.
- Make small gaps under fences so that hedgehogs and frogs can move around the neighbourhood.
- Grow flowers, and aim to have something in flower right through the year.
- Put out feed for birds and mammals, and make sure feeders are cleaned and moved every week.
- Limit the use of outside lights – use downward facing lamps (non-polluting) and install PIRs.
- Make an insect hotel.
- Ditch the chemicals (pesticides, weedkillers etc), and use organic methods of growing.
- Go “No Dig” wherever possible.
- Leave the leaves (if they’re not causing a slip hazard).
- Learn to relax around a bit of untidiness; - e.g. leave flower stems standing over winter.
- Grow some wildflowers - even the ones that are not pretty (e.g. stinging nettles) but are a valuable food source for caterpillars.
- Put up bird and bat boxes.
- Keep some grass short but also allow some to grow long, and cut some parts of the lawn only once a month.
- Plant climbers and hedges along boundaries.
- Plant trees and shrubs that have berries.
- Make a compost heap.
- Create a log pile.
- Collect rainwater.
- Install a pond, or if you have safety concerns for young children, make a bog garden.
- Make a dead hedge.
- Keep an eye out for the wildlife visiting your patch, and take part in wildlife surveys.

Check your score:

15+ You are already a wildlife hero.

5 -10 Lots of scope for new projects.

10 - 15 Good start, keep going.

<5 Really? Come on, give a little love to the birds and bees!
